

There is element of surprise

Even it is in sudden demise

Why does the sun always rise?

It can stay at home otherwise

So many things do happen or take place

They may prove disastrous even if you are not in race

You will have to deal it as fresh case

Not to loose the hope in any case

Is it not wonderful to be in this world?

All memories to be preserved and kept in fold

Why to worry about changing seasons?

It is varying from person to, person'

World may not end with our thinking

Thoughts may not stop with your sinking

You may drawn in sea or jump from sky

It will never end the question why

Try to be reasonable with simple fact

There is no use to offer resistance or to react

It may be your fate and must be accepted

Lines must be drawn choice must be opted

Future destiny makes you strong or weak

You should face the challenge and guidance to seek

You must stand alone in the lonely island

Must make it hospitable with many more friends

It may not bally your expectations

You may emerge powerful without any citation

It is your destiny and you must give shape

You should remain vigilant and never be trapped

Everything has its own time and future

It may rise and end with specific tenure

What are we thinking about future trend?

Try to adjust and make some mends

Have you ever ventured in hot sun?

Have you ever tried for shelter and run?

If not, then leave it for future option

Answer should not found before arrival of question

We get perturbed over slight setback

We don't address it but make role back

Why do we think it as permanent tragedy?

Can we not laugh it out and make it as comedy?

Nothing comes out of despair or hope

Sometimes you may have to walk on tight rope

God has given us strength to change the direction

Go with firm determination and resolute action

Time may come when you will not look back

People will follow you for guidance and ask

It will be your finest hour to rejoice

You may be able to utter with strong voice

Wait for the day and time till it knocks your door

You must simply acknowledge and don't try for

It has to come one day and make you smile

You may face the positive world when walk for while