DAYDREAMER

I have something within myself, a wonderful profession.

I have a means of traveling anywhere upon every session.

I have been to China and blasted through the far reaches of space.

I have grasped a hold of this ability with an elegant dreamers embrace.

I am a daydreamer.

There are no mental boundaries and no reality fence.

There are no physical limitations or any logical sense.

With stars on the ground and flowers growing in the sky.

I'm dreaming of golden honey and the warmness of apple pie.

I am a daydreamer.

I am happily married with kids, yes two.

A tough little boy and a beautiful little girl, yes that will do.

With fire that is cold like ice.

I am a gambler with my lucky dice.

I going to be all that I will allow myself to be.

I am a daydreamer, that is me.
