

How could I define your presence in my life?
I witnessed turmoil and remained on edge of knife
Thank God you nearly saved me from public outrage
I was to prove my self as shame on the age

You hold my arm and took to safety
You were so kind and proved it in all nicety
I was almost sunk in your absence
It was you who took me by surprise in everybody's presence

I used to compare you with cool and bright moon
I enjoyed your bright less presence in the bright noon
You were there but had nothing of moon's character
I simply adored you in my dream as ordinary actor

I should have been careful not to be spotted
All areas and points beautifully I had plotted
You were in all colors but clad in white
What I thought of you was a simple light

It did not turn up in sordid affair or failure
People tried to discourage and attempted to allure
It was you who stood fast and took me to your arm
What a lovely cool breeze but still feeling it warm

I had heard about features of dreamland
It was no different from the actual land
It was to be precisely the children's fairyland
Love and joy to be found along with the friend

You were to prove so much as lovely friend
It was to brig all uncertainties to an end
I was soon to have freedom with my glorious present
Despair, unhappiness was to be away and remain absent

You proved to be of greatest asset and helped me a lot
You never lost your temper when was out of control and very hot
You guided me to the right direction and remained loyal
You stood excellent in your approach and looked royal

It is always seen beyond d doubt that you hold pivotal position
It was you only who made me worth with beautiful composition
How can I forget your contribution in shaping my destiny?
I shall ever remain grateful to you and almighty

I shall have no other course open than to fall in line
How can I express in explicit terms that it was all fine?
I was excelling in all the direction and lost nothing
Your influence was of great importance to get me something

I may try to weigh and give you I the legitimate share
It may be great respect to you and may look very fare
Why one should not be acknowledged for efforts and dedication?
It will not be out of proportion to mention the name for contribution
