

Weaker may emerge as strongest one

If support is received from everyone

Time and tide wait for none

Momentum has to be gained and work to be done

Whole world depends on sympathy and support

It will add to sweetness if we have good rapport

What else can we do to walk for an extra mile?

Life's mission will be realized if thought for a while

No one can perform it alone

Even strong wind and rain has to accompany cyclone

It will have desirous or colossal effect of nature

In both the cases gloom is descending on future

It is natural cycle that prevents the weak

Strongest survive and weakest get stick

What else can be offered by him as defensive weapon?

When everything is at odd all and nothing clicks on

It is powerful game where weakest some times survive

They have nothing to loose so they slowly revive

Gather enough strength and build the hut with straw

Who else can win in the game of draw?

It is not weak but wicked suffers most

It will be near death blow with high cost

Why to feel sorry for strong or weak?

When chances are open to reach on the peak?

Do the weak all the time need sympathy?

Have they to sing constantly for their apathy?

Will they not rise for their legitimate rights/

Do they suffer without offering any fight?

Power grows from the barrel of the gun

Atrocities increase if you keep mum

Weaker may be suppressed for all the times to come

How can they be aroused to fight it out and welcome?

It is the fight between systems and follows up

It is sheer madness to be followed by cover up

Poor is always hit below the belt and made sufferer

In times to come he only will be torch bearer

Let the weak be given enough chance to excel

Why doubts should arise in mind and be not repealed?

Both will have to fight it out and lead the way

All uncertain clouds must be driven away

It is out of question who should stay and where?

They have to live amicably and stay there

No one can uproot them from stated position

It is fine and best available composition

There is nothing like term weak or strong

All are equal and must stay among

At any given time it may go wrong

Path must be cared out even if it is long

