

The Nature Hymn

For every tree that does fall

God does a human life recall,

For every leaf that does decay

A human life ends its saddened day.

For every sapling that meets the sun

God creates a human daughter or son,

For every tree that is spared

God's love is freely spread and shared.

For every forest that is conserved

The human race will be longer preserved,

For every person who loves nature

The human race will evolve in stature.

As all creatures rejoice

And sing the Nature Hymn,

We are left with no choice

But, sing Praises to Him.
